From Sensei: Adversity or opportunity?

As we approach the end of 2013 and welcome the New Year, 2014, you might wonder how this past year passed by so quickly. The past year brought changes for many of us. As we reflect on the many experiences that we had over the last year, what conclusions can we draw, as we try to make sense of all that happened to us?

It is said there is no good or bad, that thinking makes it so. The difference between heaven and hell is the fluctuation of the mind between thinking itself fortunate or unfortunate. We weigh every turn of events, indeed everything that happens to us, in relation to what we desire. The following story is about a successful insurance broker who lived with his family in a big house, in a nice neighborhood. His two children were doing well in school and were good athletes. This man regarded himself as very fortunate. However, before long the company that he worked for went bankrupt, and he lost his job. Unable to keep up with the mortgage payments, he had to sell his house. With these developments, he considered himself very unfortunate.

Knowing that the family would have to give up their house the man said to his wife, "I might just as well do what I've always wanted to do." Using the equity from his home, he bought a small farm in the country, and before long he began to enjoy the spiritual freedom and fewer pressures compared to his old job. With this sense of freedom and peace of mind, he again thought of himself as "fortunate."

Some weeks later, while plowing a field, the man's son was thrown from the tractor, and badly injured. Once again this man viewed himself as unfortunate. However, the quick action and expertise of the doctors, saved his son's life and, once again, the man considered himself fortunate.

However, his son's leg had been so badly injured that he needed major surgery. Again he felt that his life was indeed unfortunate.

As it turned out, his son made a good recovery. His leg healed well, and the insurance covered all of the hospital expenses. Once again, the father was considering that this was quite fortunate. However, after the operation, the boy returned to school on crutches, and was no longer able to maintain his position on the basketball team, or to play any sport at all, which the father considers to be most unfortunate.

However, the son adjusted to his disability and began visiting the hospital where he had received medical care, spending time with other young people who had similar disabilities. He found this to be very gratifying. He had a long talk with his father about his experiences at the hospital, and told him that he would like to become a counselor - that he had decided that this would become his life's work. Once again the father thought that this was fortunate. This story could go on forever, and like the stories of so many people's lives, it usually does.

Over the course of our lifetime, our lives take many twists and turns - some good, others not so good. Life itself is not essentially hellish or heavenly. We all have to face the ups and downs, the joys and the adversities that life brings. The Buddha once said that fortune changes like the swish of a horse's tail.

Disadvantage or hardship not only serves to challenge us, it can also transform us and give us the strength to accomplish things that we might never have thought possible. There are many examples of this throughout history, as well as in our present lives. The composer, Beethoven, was a man whose livelihood depended on a keen sense of hearing. To his great dismay, his hearing began to deteriorate, and he became anxious about the possibility of becoming deaf. In those days, there was very little that doctors could do to treat people with hearing disorders. Eventually he became completely deaf. It was a devastating blow for him, and this triggered a depression that was so deep that he thought about ending his life. However, after much soul searching, he made a conscious decision to live, and to carry on despite his deafness. He began to compose again - indeed, he wrote some of his finest music after he had become totally deaf. With many of the distractions of daily life shut out, the music and melodies flooded in on him almost as fast as he could write them down.

We are all travelers in this one life. We grapple with the challenges, we search for inner peace and an understanding of the meaningfulness of our lives. These two stories make me think about the spirituality of the Nembutsu. There are no demands of us to become wiser, better, or more perfect. Anchored to the Nembutsu spirituality, this path takes us as we are, imperfect and incomplete, with all our worries and problems, and transforms us into virtue and strength. It is a stabilizing force for us in this life of constant change.

A Happy New Year, everyone. I hope that the New Year will bring you Peace and Happiness and a deepening of your entrusting heart, in the light of Amida's infinite wisdom and compassion.
In Gassho, Rev. Yasuhiro Miyakawa

From Fujinkai

We would like to wish all Members and their extended families a very Merry Christmas.

A very sincere thank you to all Fujinkai members and friends who came out to help at the many Temple fundraising projects and activities held this year. We couldn't have been successful without your help.

Thank you to all of the new members who have joined the Fujinkai in 2013. Our membership needs to continue to grow to pass on our knowledge and skills to the new group of younger members.

On December 14, we sold Mochi and Udon to members and friends. Continuing this annual tradition of making mochi for New Years is important to all of our members. We enjoy seeing the younger men try their hand at pounding the rice. We need more to try their hand at turning the rice, a backbreaking job for sure.

The pinching of the "dough" and forming of the mochi is an art as well. Thank you to all who came to help make this a special day. There is nothing like home-made mochi and udon.

Upcoming events for January

Women's Association Annual General Meeting to be held at the Bunkhouse Grill on KLO Road from 11:00a.m on Sunday, January 19, 2014. Everyone is welcome.

Women's Association Executive meeting to be held immediately following the AGM.

Fujinkai Shinbokukai (New Years Party) will be held. Bingo and pot luck dinner to be held immediately following the Goshoki Hoonko service at 1:00p.m. on Sunday, January 26, 2014. Gentlemen welcome! Members will be contacted regarding their contribution to the meal.

We have available for sale Age and have increased the price for the first time in many years. The price for Age is now $12.50 per package. Okara is also currently available. Price while supplies last is $2.00 per package.

New Year's Greeting OHTANI Koshin—Monshu—Jodo Shinshu Shogwanji-ha

Immeasurable Light and Life.

At the beginning of the year, I would like to send you my greetings from Hongwanji in Kyoto.

Upon succeeding the position as Monshu, thirty-six years and nine months have passed. I have come to empathize with Chinese master, Shan-tao, as he writes in Hymns of Birth in the Pure Land, "Caught up in everyday life, the days and nights go left unnoticed, unable to become emancipated and escape the sea of suffering." I shall vow to work diligently until my term comes to an end this June.

For many of us, although the passing of time seems to speed up with age, in recent years, changes within society have sped up, making things all the more unsettling.

Because these rapid transitions are largely the result of developments in scientific technology and economic growth, they sometimes produce discrepancies in individual lifestyles and societal framework. The gap among socio-economic concerns including business corporations and people's lifestyles are widening that both domestic and international efforts have not been successful in dealing with such issues. As a result, there is a sense that neither reflecting on the past nor thinking ahead into the future matters, so long as we are content with the present. However, this mentality will result in repeating past mistakes or passing burdens on to future generations.

Is it not that the role of Buddhism is to provide us who live in this constantly changing world, with an unflinching spiritual foundation to live the life which we have received to the fullest? In Jodo Shinshu Buddhism, that foundation is the Primal Vow of Amida Tathagata, namely Namo Amida Butsu. Being unconditionally embraced by Amida Tathagata, we are enabled to accept our own inconvenient past and at this very moment, be joyous of this life we have received.

May we all continue to live every day of this year in appreciation of the Nembutsu. January 1, 2014

年頭の辞

光寿無量

新しい年の初めにあたり、京都の本願寺よりご挨拶申し上げます。

門主を継職してから三十六年と九ヶ月過ぎました。中国の善導大師のお言葉に「人間恩々（あわただしい）として衆務（日常のつとめ）を営み、年命の日夜に去ることを覚え（中略）いまだ解脱して苦海を出づることを得ず」（『往生礼讃』とあるのが、身にしみて感じられます。今年六月の退任まで、心して、勤めたいと思います。

年齢と共に、時の経つのが速くなるように感じられることは、多くの方に共通しているようですが、近年は世の中の変化そのものが速くなっており、一層、慌ただしく感じられます。この変化は主として、科学技術の発達と経済活動の進展によるものですから、人間一人ひとりの生活や社会の仕組みがうまく対応できるとは限りません。企業の盛衰や人々の生活格差は激しくなっています。それに対処できる国内の仕組みや国際的な協調が追いつきません。そのためか、過去を問わず、未来を考えず、今さえよければ良いという風潮が感じられます。それでは、過去の過ちを繰り返したり、子孫の世代に負の遺産を残すこととなります。

佛教の役割は、移り変わる世の中を生きる人間に、変わることのない依り処を与え、恵まれたいのちを精一杯生きるよう導くことではないでしょうか。浄土真宗では、阿弥陀如来の本願すなわち南無阿弥陀仏が依り処です。阿弥陀如来に無条件に受け容れられることによって、私は不都合な過去も受け容れるようになり、今、生かされていることを喜ぶことができます。

Just Rambling

Reminiscing about what I was doing on that day 72 years ago. A friend of my parents, Mr. Sonoda a pioneer fruit grower in Kelowna had made an appointment for surgery in Vancouver for December 8th. As the passengers on the CN train departing the local station would have a long 8 hour waiting period at Kamloops to catch the westbound mainliner, I offered to drive him there. In those days service stations were closed on Sundays. Therefore, I filled a 5 gallon can of gas and loaded it in the trunk of my '38 Chev sedan and accompanied by my parents, away we went bumping along over unpaved roads. We left the gas can at a friend's home in Vernon to be used on the return journey. Having no radio in the car, we heard no news whatsoever of history being made two time zones to the west of us. Upon returning to Vernon for our gas our friends greeted us with the shocking events that had taken place at Pearl Harbor. During the remainder of our drive home, my mind was in a turmoil. What effect will it have on the Japanese living in B.C.? With Canada being at war and as Japan an ally of the Germans, in recent weeks unfounded accusations of possible disloyalty and even acts of sabotage by some of the Japanese residents of the coastal areas was mentioned almost daily by several politicians. These remarks were echoed with exaggerations by some members of the Vancouver news media. Following the Pearl Harbor attack I was terribly concerned that the situation would become much worse.

It's Saturday morning and as a rule I lie in bed longer on weekends than on regular weekdays. Being a lifelong farmer, it has become a habit for my eyes to open around 6:00 A.M. Not being able to fall asleep again, my mind becomes activated and starts planning for the day's events. Today is Dec. 7th, the anniversary date of the Pearl Harbor attack and I start to change the subject, hunting season is now almost over. When I was young, I found it rather exciting hunting for deer and moose. One day when hiking in the hills, I came face to face with a young fawn. When it stared at me with its soft brown eyes, it reminded me so much of BAMBI. Needless to say, on that day hunting became a thing of the past for me.

The high tech gadgets that appear to fascinate my grandchildren are mind boggling to this old man. At times I long for the good old days of radios and record players, even the old 78's. Following are a few of the programs I enjoyed listening to 3/4 of a century ago: Sat. night-The Hit Parade—especially when Sinatra at his prime was performing. Monday evening—The Lux Radio Theater. Weekday mornings—The Breakfast Club - Sponsor Swift sure made the bacon smell good.

My memories go on to the Niseis who were born in Kelowna and are now over 90 years old. According to my last count, there are five of us and we must truly love this place to have lived here for most of our lives.

It is now the time of the year to extend to all the readers of this Newsletter a very Happy Holiday season and the best of health and happiness in 2014.

Message from the Editor

With the help of our Web Service Provider, Jon West... we have had to rebuild the Temple web site. Recently we were hacked by someone who didn't have anything to do, other than corrupt files and stick malware into our site. If you noticed the site was down, unstable or you had any problems, it was because we were busy learning new software and changing things in the background. I hope you get a chance to visit the new web site, although you may not see much of a difference, believe me... there is a total change.

As we continue into the age of texting, web browsing and continued technological growth, we need to continue keeping up with the times. Maybe whoever hacked our site, did us a favor in the end, because they forced us into improving and modernizing our web site... always a bright side to everything.

As we draw near the end of another busy year, I wanted to mention something... we are so lucky to have Sensei Miyakawa. I have written in the past many stories about me, but I have been remiss in acknowledging how fortunate the Kelowna Buddhist Temple is, we have the best minister in Canada! OK, I'm sure Sensei would not agree with me saying that, but in my humble opinion, he is and has been a great resident minister. He humbly accepts our small congregation and supports us as we stumble through our daily lives. I close this year's editorial with my recognition to not only Sensei's dedication, but also those that support, read and submit to this publication, Happy and Safe Holidays to all... In Gassho, jiro

From The Temple Executive

Another year has flown by and is rapidly drawing to a close. Writing this article has given me the opportunity for some self reflection in the midst of the busy holiday season. I am reminded of the preciousness of human existence as November is the memorial month for not only both of my parents but also both of my wife Genevra's parents. When I reflect on my own birth in the month of December I am given cause to realize how lucky I am to be here. I was born premature and was not expected to live. In fact my father had been told that there was no hope of my even being born alive and only a 50/50 chance that my mother would survive. (She had a pre-eclampsia pregnancy). Just for good measure I was born during the coldest Winter recorded in Britain and during a measles outbreak! I owe much of my survival to my father's care, because my mother was so ill. He actually knitted my first set of baby clothes because he could not get anything small enough to fit me! December is also the month in which I received emergency gall bladder surgery in 2002. It was at this time I had the good fortune to meet Sensei Miyakawa in Kelowna
