From Sensei: New Challenges

The secret of health for both mind and body is not to mourn for the past, not to worry about the future, or not to anticipate troubles, but to live in the present moment wisely and earnestly (Dhammapada)

We are approaching the year end, and soon we will be welcoming the New Year. It is a good time to reflect on the past year and plan for the coming year. Soon we will join with our friends and families to celebrate the Holiday Season and New Year. The Holiday Season is a time for family gatherings. These activities can bring us great joy, but sometimes also, some stress.

We have been recently experiencing many unusual kinds of weather throughout North America, ranging from torrential rain, floods, and landslides, to heavy snowstorms. I recently talked with a friend from Toronto whose job requires him to commute several times a week to Buffalo. He recently experienced the huge winter storm and was stranded on the highway overnight. His story reminded me of some of my own experiences in Winnipeg, where being stranded on the highway in a blizzard can become life-threatening. As I talked with him, I recalled a story that I had heard several years earlier.

My friend's car had become snowbound on the side of the highway after leaving the airport. The weather was bitterly cold and dangerous. There were several other cars also in the ditch and unable to move. My friend decided to seek the support of some of the other motorists, who had already been talking with one another, and discovered that the highway had by then been closed. Everyone was in the same situation. After a few minutes of talking with each other, they developed a plan that could save their limited fuel, and would also allow everyone to remain safe and protected from the freezing temperatures.

Instead of each one remaining helplessly in their own cars, using up their gas to stay warm, until it was gone, the drivers decided that they would all go into one car and stay in it until the gas meter went down to a certain level. They would then move on to another car and repeat it. It was almost like a story that I had once heard. The drivers were able to continue to do this until the early morning hours. When the snow plough finally freed them, they were all safe and warm. Each driver still had enough fuel to make it to the next gas station, before heading home.

I thought about this story many times, especially on my travels throughout the B.C. Interior on snowy nights. What would I do if I were in the same situation? The stranded motorists in the story made a conscious decision to work together. They created a group of mutual support, on that harsh and stormy winter night. The alternative possibility was to remain alone in one's car, using up all the fuel, as well as feeling alone and vulnerable.

I believe that this story also tells us something about human nature. There are many people who perceive our world as a merciless and uncaring place. However, there are also others who see the world as a compassionate and caring place. These two views can result in different experiences of the events in the lives of people. Some people may see themselves as isolated and separate from others, while others tend to see friends wherever they look. As you might expect, these two perceptions tend to lead to different kinds of experiences.

We can also look at this story at another level, and remind ourselves that we can "get out of our own car" leaving behind our old ways of seeing and understanding, even if only for a while, and "get into the car of another". We don't need to remain "trapped" or "snow bound" in our habitual ways of thinking, judging or feeling, that we become victims of our experiences. There may be times when we need to "get out of our own car" and into that of another. We don't need to be held back by our own habitual and sometimes self-defeating choices. Our experiences may begin to change as we change our responses to new challenges.

Seasons Greetings, and a Happy New Year everyone. May you find happiness and peace with family and friends over the Holidays and New Year.

In Gassho, Yasuhiro Miyakawa

昨年、6月に法統を継承し、本願寺住職・浄土真宗本願寺派門主となりました。社会状況の変化が激しい現代社会において、浄土真宗のみ教えがより多くの方にとって生きる依りどころとなるよう、伝えてまいります。どうぞよろしく願いいたします。

浄土真宗の教えは、親鸞聖人によって説かれました。以来、790年以上にわたり受け継がれ、今日の私たちに届いています。それは、み教えが、時代や場所に関係なく、すべての人にとって生きる依りどころとなってきたからです。仏教は、自己中心的なとらわれを離れ、真理に基づいて生きる生き方を明らかにしています。しかし、そのようにできない私たちは、様々な悲しみや苦しみを抱えることになります。

親鸞聖人は、このような私たちを必ず仏にならせようと阿弥陀様がはたらいて下さると教えてくださいました。この阿弥陀様のはたらきによって、私たちは、真理に気づき、わが身の姿を省みることが出来ます。

本年も、み教えを聞き、お念仏申す生活を送らせていただきましょう。

New Year's Greeting

As we mark the beginning of a new year, I extend to you my greetings.

Last year, since having succeeded the Jodo Shinshu tradition in June, I have taken on the posts as the resident jushoku minister of Hongwanji and the Monshu of Jodo Shinshu Hongwanji-ha. Living among today's society in which the conditions are quickly changing, I shall help share the Jodo Shinshu teaching with as many people as possible, so that it will become a principle religious foundation for daily living. To do so, I humbly ask for your support.

The Jodo Shinshu teaching was expounded by Shinran Shonin. Since then, the teaching has been transmitted for well over 790 years, reaching us here today in this present day and age. This is because regardless of time and location, the Nembutsu teaching has always been able to serve any persons as a spiritual guidance to their life. Buddhism detaches from self-absorption and encourages living a life based on the Dharma. However, due to our own limitations being unable to put this into practice, we are faced with sadness and suffering.

Shinran Shonin has taught us that it has been predetermined that we will be led to the Pure Land and attain Buddhahood through the working of Amida Buddha. With the working of Amida Buddha's infinite wisdom and compassion, we are enabled to realize one's true self through the Truth.

In closing, let us live a life reciting the Nembutsu as we receive the Dharma.

OHTANI Kojun Monshu Jodo Shinshu Hongwanji-ha

From the Temple Executive

December, and 2014 is almost over. It has been extremely busy the last three months with the various fund raising activities. We held our Farmer's Market, made apple pies twice, udon noodles and mochi.

Thanks go out to all the dedicated individuals who came out to help at these fund raising activities and all the other events throughout the year. Without the funds generated through the efforts of all these volunteers, the Temple would be unable to continue operating.

2014 was a busy year for the Temple Board as we dealt with a number of pressing issues. Kent MacCarl spent a considerable amount of time meeting with a number of individuals to get their views on the operation of the Temple in an effort to develop and define a vision and framework for the future of our Temple. Kent's work is on-going.

It is becoming evident that the parking lot will have to be re-paved in the near future. It was felt that a solution was presented on a silver platter when the developer of the new building under construction across the street approached us about leasing parking spaces to them for their use during weekdays. After extended negotiations with the developer and consultation with legal counsel, it was determined that leasing of parking spaces could be in contravention of city bylaws so the plan had to be dropped. However, the imminent need to re-pave the parking lot is

Message from the Editor

As of the date of this publication, I will have but a few days of work left and then I am officially "RETIRED". Now I am scared, one dreams of this day for all of their working lives and now that it is time, why would you be scared... lol. I am worried about everything from... will I have enough money to last until I die, will I get everything on my wish list, will I find enough things to do, will I be able to do all the things I didn't have time to do when I worked, will my cooking pass the test of time, will my health stay good, how will my relationship with my wife change... believe me, the list goes on and on. I don't want to worry myself to death, I want to sit back and let retirement flow over me like a spring breeze or warm sunshine or butter in a hot skillet, just laying there and letting it tenderize me. It seems I am the envy of everyone at work, but I really don't know why... they all think you need millions of dollars to retire and since I don't have millions of dollars... I'm worried again. I don't know how many people have asked me "what are you going to do?" Well, I guess I'm not going to do what I did before... lol.

I will do my best to age well, all my facial wrinkles will be laugh lines instead of worry lines and I will eat well, I will join a gym, I will research new recipes to fix for supper, I will read more, I will photograph more, I will learn to Kayak, I will travel more, I will golf more, I will snowboard more, I will run in organized charities, I will take the dog for more walks, I will volunteer more and I will jump out of perfectly good airplane... (just thru that in to see if you are still paying attention... lol). Wish everyone a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, I know my new year will be the first of another stage in my life that will be the first of many more years of awesome life experiences yet to be told. Buddhism of the Heart

People sometimes assume that chanting is the center of Pure Land Practice. But it has always seemed to me that the service, whether conducted at home or in the Temple, culminates in the incense-offering. In a way, this simple act is more important than the Nembutsu, sutra-chanting, community announcements, even the Dharma Talk. In the act of offering incense—approaching the altar, giving a pinch of powdered incense, bowing with palms together, saying the Nembutsu, and departing—the inner feeling of Buddhism is expressed. It is in this moment that we come fact to face with the Buddha, when "Namu (myself) meets Amida Butsu (true reality)," as we say in the Shin tradition.

Generosity Appeal: Do You Have $90,000.00? No? How About $75,000.00? No?

The Temple doesn't either. The first amount is the annual cost to keep the Temple doors open, and the latter amount is what we need (estimate) to repave the parking lot.

Fact: There are approximately 100 Temple members. Not quite half of that $90,000.00 comes from donations. The Temple has a long history of loyal support from its members. Our traditional fund raising campaigns do not generate the revenue they once did to bridge the gap between income and expenses.

This Temple is a jewel. We are so incredibly lucky to have a place to hear the Dharma, to have fellowship, and be nurtured by a caring Sangha. The current board of directors is now investigating various new revenue generating sources. This Temple is important to all of us; our parents, our children and our community. We are appealing directly to you to consider what you may be able to afford as an ongoing monthly donation. The Temple is very mindful that every member's situation is different, but for an ongoing monthly donation by everyone of the cost of just a couple of cups of Starbucks coffee a week, in addition to present contributions, the Temple would once again have a healthy financial outlook and would continue to have a vibrant Jodo Shinshu community in Kelowna.

Several Temple members are using Canada Donates.org which is extremely simple to set up, takes a very small percentage as an administrative fee and issues an income tax receipt at year end.

Should you have any questions about the Temple's financial needs, or how to set up a monthly donation, we invite you to contact any board member. We will be happy to help.

Thank you very much for your help. In Gassho, Kelowna Buddhist Temple Board of Directors

Message from the Co-President

It has been a very busy year for the Kelowna Buddhist Temple. It is hard to believe the year is almost over and a new year is quickly approaching. I would like to thank all the Temple members for your support and volunteer effort that many of you have selflessly given towards the betterment of our Temple. It is with this support that makes this place work.

Many of us are getting older and are at the point where we are needing our younger people to come forward to give us a helping hand.

I would like to especially thank Sensei Miyakawa for his dedication and hard work, in producing the Jodo Shinshu Shogyo third edition. This project has brought a translation into English what has been the traditional Japanese writings. Also, Sensei's guidance and influence have contributed to the Introduction to Buddhism lectures put on by Barbara Mac-Carl and Michael Martin. We have had many new people take these lectures to learn about Buddhism and from this a few people have decided to become members of our Temple and to follow the teachings of Jodo Shinshu Buddhism. To these people, I would like to say welcome and please take part in many of our activities and get to meet our members.

We have just had an election which was closed Dec 12, 2014, for six new board positions. I would like to extend my gratitude and thanks to Shirley Tanemura, and Derek Mayeda for their untiring dedication to the Temple. They have requested that their names not stand for re-election. Their knowledge and advice will be greatly missed. Thank you both for your hard work and dedication. The newly elected members are presently being asked to stand for their new two year term and will be announced in our next newsletter.

Please note that the Annual General Meeting for the Kelowna Buddhist Temple will be held on January 11, 2015 at 3PM. Come and express your opinion on a topic that is important to you. We would like to hear from you with your ideas and concerns. After the AGM, dinner will be held after the AGM at The Asian Pear restaurant.

Finally I would like to extend my Best Wishes and Happy Holidays to you all. May the New Year bring happiness and joy and spiritual enlightenment.

In Gassho,
Reg Tomiye

Introduction to Buddhism

Another Introduction to Buddhism class has successfully finished. With each class, I am always amazed at the sincere thirst that people have to hear the Dharma. Both Michael and I feel that we now have about 15 new dharma friends, and look forward to continuing to share with them in the future.

I do believe that some of them are interested in attending and perhaps joining the Temple, please welcome them with open arms as they are all quite wonderful people.

Thank you again for the help and support that the Temple has shown with regard to these classes.

Introduction to Buddhism continued:

Wishing you all a wonderful New Year,
In Gassho,
Barb MacCarl

P.S. Please check the web site for dates and information regarding the "Triple Gem" Dharma retreat weekend coming up in March to be held here at the Temple, as well as the dates for the next Introduction to Buddhism class (sometime in April).

Kids' Sangha

This is an article especially for the Dharma School kids and their families.

In Dharma School, we have been learning about meditation. We sit together for a short meditation during most Dharma School services, and some children are practicing meditation at home. Those children who practice meditation say that they feel calm inside, and can concentrate well because of their meditation.

When Thich Nhat Hanh teaches meditation training to children he invites them to make two promises:

I vow to develop understanding in order to live peacefully with people, animals, plants, and minerals.

I vow to develop compassion in order to protect the lives of people, animals, plants, and minerals.

These are two mindfulness trainings in ethics, or Sila, for our children. Thich Nhat Hanh says, "In order to love you need to understand, because love is made of understanding. If you do not understand someone, you cannot love him." Meditation helps us to train our minds so that we can look beyond our own thoughts and stories about the world around us. Then we can look deeply with a clear mind, in order to understand the needs and suffering of other beings. When you understand others in this way, they can feel it. Through your understanding you can think and behave with clarity and help to bring peace and well-being into your family, school, community, country, and the world.

Women's Association—Year-end reflection

2014 will soon be a memory and I cannot believe how fast the year has gone by... and we had a very successful year at the Kelowna Buddhist Temple. The Ladies were so happy for the support that they received from all volunteers during all the projects and also extend special thanks to Rev. Y. Miyakawa for his leadership and guidance.

If you didn't see the memo, the World Women's Conference in Calgary is still accepting registrations, as there was a deadline that has passed. There is still a sliver of a chance you can still register, please consider attending what I'm sure will be an amazing weekend full of information and activities. We extend to all a personal invitation to attend the Service on January 25 at 1pm, Goshoki Hoonko and Installation of Officers, following the service there is going to be a New Years party... the ladies call "Fujinkai Shinbokukai". New Ladies are invited to our AGM on January 18th at the McCulloch Station Pub (upstairs).

Special Thanks to the Tanaka Family for the amazing commercial dish washer (no more paper plates or dish pan hands)—it is installed and operational (thanks to, Isao, Reg and Shirley).

On behalf of the Women's Association I wish everyone a fantastic holiday full of feast and festivities, plus a very prosperous New Year. It seems from the other articles in this issue, we are in need of your help more than ever in the coming years. Everyone wants a break and our pool of dedicated volunteers continue to dwindle... please resolve to make good choices, In Gassho, Laurie
